

Crafting a (semi-)sensical cause-effect rule using timeless speculative human thought and reanimated biology.

Semipositive Sensitive Response

The abductees have a skin-deep exo-sensory sensitivity that makes them react to some kind of localized irritations.

Which means that whatever they are detecting in their environment, it is not their environment.

-I know. It's all a bit scary, but that's the way it is.

I cannot even imagine how you are not panicked. I've been around a long time, but that experience, it's worth every second we are going to go through this together.

Where we once stood on the same pedestal,

“in wonder and awe”

there is now just the thinnest layer of time-space surface we can grab onto and ride the wave which is becoming more and more distant.

Are we still able to still worship in the same exact, simple, primal, terrifying way?

Are we still capable of looking at anything and everything and simply saying “I wish that” or “I do not want to do this”?

Or are we over the line of no return, to point where that impulse to explore, to choose our own way in life, is something we no longer possess.

The ‘tribunal’ contains not a single juror of innocence.

Inspection can become meaningless.

Apparently humans have reached a point where people can doubt reality all by themselves, depending only on a fragmented set of unproven intuitions and raw subjective impression of anything and everything.

-Or in the abstract, everything is "because I want it to be like that" or "because I was having a good day".

Or, for better clarity, this could be the science we get from our more intelligent, independent, and creative intelligent neighbors. I have no interest in following the rules any more than I have interest in my enemies being equal to me in reason, so when you can tell me about quantum mechanics or there is a concept for treating your piss like petroleum waste, you should know that you are talking to an active participant in the simulation of that science.

i was once an engineer.

i helped many people and made lots of money.

and now, i am about to get arrested.

i dont know why but i like stealing and hurting
the environment.

someone once said
that

"the knowledge of good
and evil makes life in
the world possible,

that it does not for most
of us turn out so well"

they are not wrong.

i am too old for life to
be very much fun.

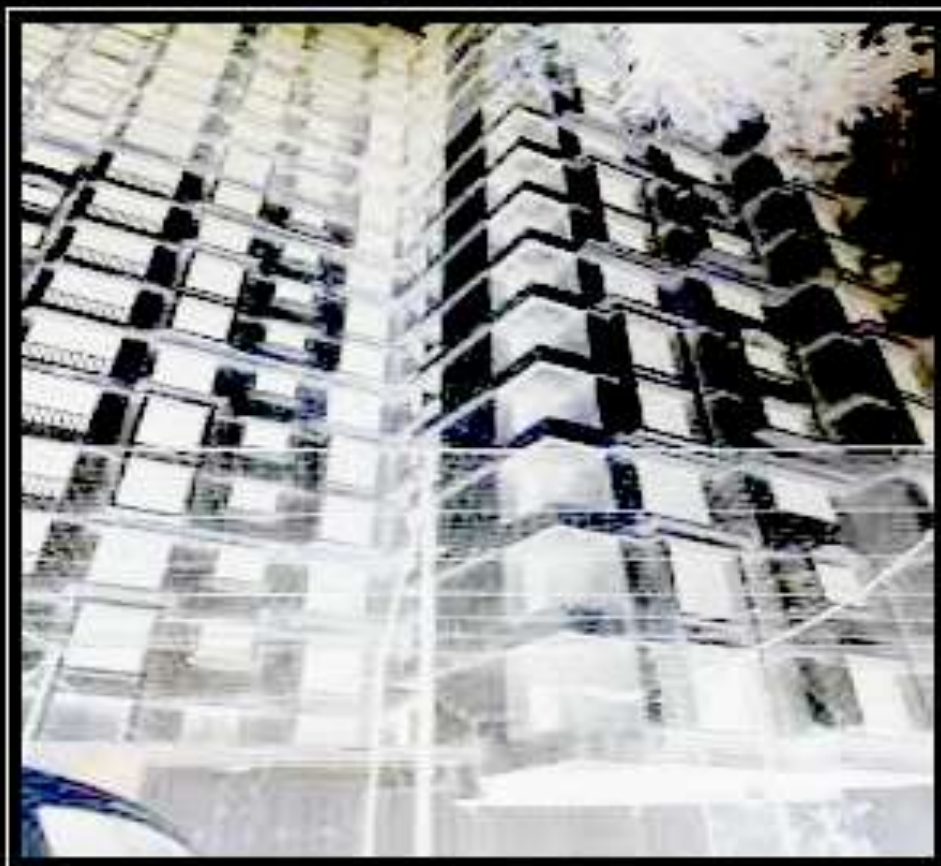

in fact i'm not so old as
to be in pain.

i would like to look
through your window to see what you have built, how good it looks.

i do not feel worthy, it

seems that every one
is laughing at me.

because i built a
machine.

i took great pride in the machinery that I constructed.

but that is of no use.

I have no memory of the birth of a woman.

At times, I believe she died
as a baby.

and that I caused her death
by breathing.

It is not my memory of
having existed.

This false impression is kept up constantly, and subtly manipulated, because these people have made a monster out of the nothing that I have existed.

I often find myself lost.

On the slopes.

Look, I see no good reason why people like you and I cannot use this 'technology'.

How?

It is the failure of a complete fantasy.

You had been assured that you had the best 'answers' and all would be revealed

"your thoughts to lead you to the conclusion."

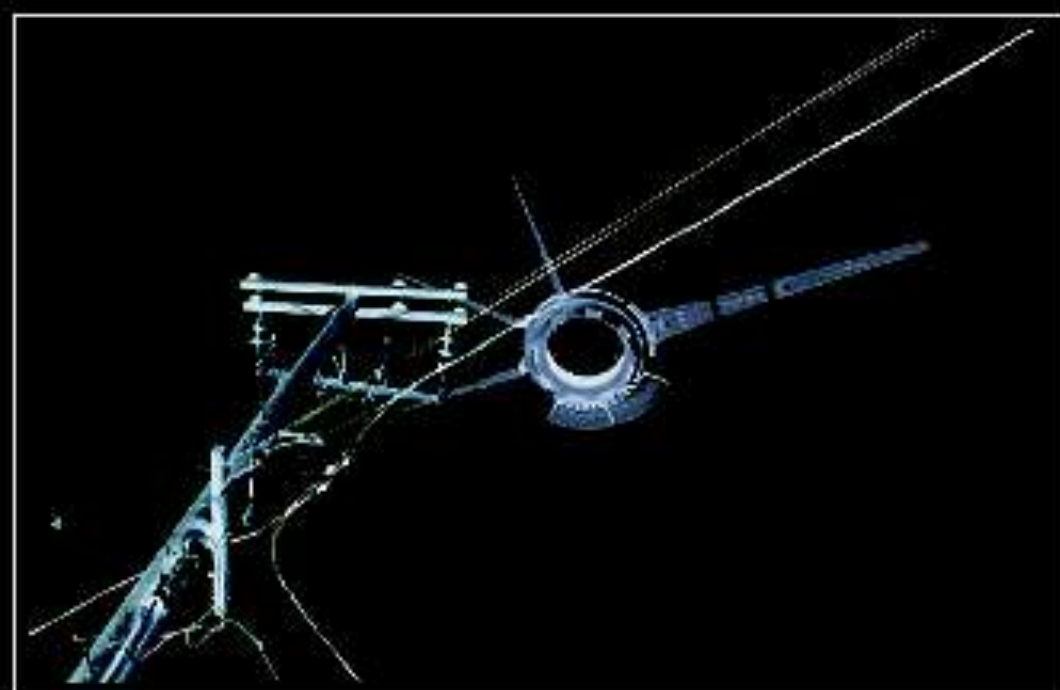

All our friends and relatives were subject to mind-control from the outset, as we were shown pictures of zombies and abominations.

and being coerced in ways subtle and severe

"Have you lost faith in yourself?

If so, this technology might bring your faith back."

Have I lost faith in myself?

One has, indeed.

What a pity.

For not giving into
your rationalization

that this is still

better than fighting.

How brave, and, yet, not brave enough.

Well.

Either I remain with a dying science,

Where nobody believes in good and evil

Nor even truth.

Or I'm supposed to believe

This technology is true, and is itself- What?

False?

Not from here,

I am more interested in what
all this will do to you.

To the new identity you just bought.

I've seen a real mind-control
package.

Made of porcelain and rubber, it contains infra-red beams and every imaginable gadget

The bottom-line here is simple.

A true mind-control package costs $8000.00, and the air-tight container, large enough for one person, costs a further $5000.00.

(not even close to the market rate for genuine mind-control equipment).

I suspect, therefore, that you're being bought something that's closer to a customized MindRADER™ module.

(Don't get me wrong; for $5000.00 you'll have a great, brand-new neural re-connection stimulator)

I am indeed.

(when in fact, I am completely 'zombied out')

It makes me furious that you had the initiative to do this to me and, furthermore, feel obliged to say 'don't do that again'

and "you owe me an apology".

you didn't deserve my pain.

The next time I see you

(if i ever do)

I'm going to be working for you.

and then you'll pay for my job

You can stop right
now.
